Heroes Stay Safe at Home

Chemonics
Development works here
You’re never too old — or too young — to be a hero! Staying at home and practicing social distancing is critical to keeping yourself and others safe from COVID-19. In this activity booklet, we share several ways you can keep yourself busy while you are safely social distancing — and have some fun, too!

Chemonics is working tirelessly alongside our partners around the world to face the challenges presented by the COVID-19 pandemic. From overcoming global supply chain disruptions to increasing access to remote learning, our global network of approximately 5,000 specialists is driven by an unwavering resolve to work better, inspired by a conviction that tomorrow’s world must be better than today’s.

During the pandemic, we are working to continue uninterrupted services to people across the world, helping them live healthier, more productive, and more independent lives in these unprecedented times.

Through this activity booklet, we seek to share key public health messages around social distancing with a very important audience — children and young people.

TIC TAC TOE

You are X, your playmate is O. On the 3 by 3 grids below, the two of you will take turns putting your marks in empty squares. The first player to get 3 of their marks in a row (up, down, across, or diagonally) is the winner. If no player has 3 marks in a row, the game ends in a tie. Helpful Tip: Use a pencil if you want to reuse the boards.
Best buddies, Mighty Zebra and Super Hippo, really miss one another since they are staying safe by staying at home! Help them create a make believe remote playdate by drawing your very own comic strip in the boxes below. See some of our suggestions for playdates at the bottom.

REMOTE PLAYDATE IDEAS: Dance party • telekaraoke • online game night (many classic board games are online) • movie night • a sing-a-long • a video game tournament • a virtual craft workshop or baking party. The possibilities are endless!
