We will take reasonable steps to ensure that the Personal Information we use or disclose is accurate, up to date, complete and relevant to the purpose of the use or disclosure.

Chemonics includes contractual language with third-parties regarding data protection, confidentiality, and security guidelines. If your personal data is subject to the GDPR, Chemonics ensures that the transfers will be under an agreement which covers the EU or UK requirements for the transfer of personal data outside the EU or UK, such as the European Commission approved standard contractual clauses or UK Addendum (as applicable) .

Our service providers are obliged to keep your details securely and use them only to fulfil the service they provide you on our behalf. Once your service need has been satisfied, or the matter has been closed, they will dispose of the details in line with our procedures.

Your Rights Regarding Your Personal Data

The GDPR details an individual's rights regarding their personal data. Chemonics respects and supports these rights and applies them to personal data held generally. These rights include:

- ✓ Right to access – Subject to certain conditions, you are entitled to have access to your personal data. You may contact Chemonics to request a copy of your personal data held by us. From time to time, we may also ask you to review and update the HR Personal Data we hold about you.
- ✓ Right to data portability – Subject to certain conditions, you are entitled to receive the personal data which you have provided to us and which is processed by us by automated means, in a structured, commonly-used machine readable format.

- ✓ Right to correction – You may challenge the accuracy or completeness of your personal data and have it corrected or completed, as applicable. You have a responsibility to help us to keep your personal information accurate and up to date. You may review or make certain corrections to your electronic HR Personal Data through the online tools that Chemonics provides or through submitting Subject Access Request (SAR) Form that can be accessed online.
- ✓ Right to object to or restrict processing – Subject to certain conditions, you have the right to object to or ask us to restrict the processing of your personal data.
- ✓ Right of erasure – Subject to certain conditions, you are entitled to have your personal data erased (e.g. where your personal data is no longer needed for the purposes it was collected for, or where the relevant processing is unlawful).
- ✓ Right to withdraw consent – As stated above, where our processing of your personal data is based on your consent you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time. If you withdraw your consent, this will only take effect for future processing and is subject to certain conditions based on Chemonics's legal obligations. Requests will be forwarded on should there be a third party involved in the processing of your personal data.
- ✓ Right to object to automated processing, including profiling – You also have the right not to be subject to the legal effects of automated processing or profiling.
- ✓ Right to judicial review – In the event that Chemonics refuses your request under rights of access, we will provide you with a reason as to why. You have the right to complain as outlined in line with Subject Access Request Procedure and Subject Access Request Form

To act on any of the above rights, Chemonics may need to request additional information regarding the specifics of the request as well as confirm your identity. We will respond to these requests in accordance with regulatory requirements once we confirm the validity of the request. Requests regarding these rights, with any questions about this notice or with any concerns about possible violations of this Notice should be submitted to Chemonics through GDPRcontact@chemonics.com.

Transfers Outside the EU and UK

Personal data in the European Union and UK is protected by the GDPR but some other countries may not necessarily have the same high standard of protection for your personal data.

Chemonics is a global company and we may disclose your Personal Data to our affiliates, divisions, business units, subsidiaries, suppliers and services providers.

Some of this HR Personal Data is stored in the United States or other countries which do not or may not impose or maintain adequate data protection standards or requirements similar or equivalent to those applicable in the EU or UK. Chemonics has implemented appropriate safeguards to ensure the necessary level of data protection for any overseas transfers as well as enforceable data subject rights and effective legal remedies for data subjects by entering into data transfer agreements.

Where we transfer personal data for the above reasons to countries not subject to an adequacy decision by the European Commission, or an adequacy regulation by the UK Secretary of State, we utilize appropriate safeguarding measures and mechanisms to ensure the necessary level of data protection for any overseas transfers by entering into data transfer agreements using the standard contractual clauses and UK Addendum (as applicable).

Storage of Personal Information

We will store your personal data in both physical and electronic forms. We will take reasonable steps to ensure that all Personal data collected from you is stored in a secure environment accessible only by our authorized personnel.

It is our intent to not keep Personal data for longer than reasonably required. The duration depends on the nature of the personal data and the purposes for which it was received. Chemonics business entities maintain a data retention policy informed by:

Legal or regulatory requirements of the location of the data processing;

- ✓ The completion of a contract or employment engagement with you or work you supported with our clients;
- ✓ If your personal data is held for reasons other than legal requirement or contractual engagement (e.g. newsletter, recruitment database), we will maintain that data until you request its removal or correction.

Chemonics will retain your HR Personal Data for as long as necessary, both during and following the period of your employment, for the purposes for which it was collected, or for as long as is permitted by applicable law. Chemonics will retain and delete HR Personal Data when it is no longer needed, according to the local law requirements and, in compliance with our Records Control Procedure.

Breaches of Personal Data

Chemonics applies best business practices and secure systems to protect Personal Data. If a data breach that included Personal Data were to occur, Chemonics will respond to the breach as required by the relevant regulations. If you are aware of a breach of personal data that involves Chemonics, please contact us at GDPRcontact@chemonics.com immediately.
